3. Profile of skills and competences

Specialist areas of competence:

Accounting

The finance and accounting assistant carries out a variety of activities in accounting on the basis of his/her knowledge in the individual sub-areas of accounting. This includes the organisation and checking of supporting documents as well as the posting of business transactions taking into account the VAT rules for domestic and foreign transactions. His/her area of responsibility also includes determining the VAT payable, completing the VAT form and submitting the advance VAT return. In addition, he/she carries out calculations and book entries in connection with the monthly or annual financial statements, such as keeping the list of assets, the settlement of goods and materials or the handling of provisions. In addition, he/she prepares evaluation documents for the annual accounts and can take information from the annual accounts. He/she is also able to interpret legal regulations relevant to the workplace (e.g. provisions from the Income Tax Act, Value Added Tax Act, Federal Tax Code). The finance and accounting assistant is involved in cost accounting and personnel accounting and is capable of handling payment transactions. He/she is also responsible for the compilation of statistics as well as the calculation and preparation of key figures and is involved in checking the workplace's key figures to ensure compliance.

Office management

The finance and accounting assistant fulfils a variety of tasks within the scope of operational communication. This also includes letter and e-mail correspondence. He/she is also able to undertake schedule management, organise discussions, meetings and business trips and keep a cash register.

Procurement

The finance and accounting assistant has knowledge of procurement and handles tasks in this area. He/she is able to determine the demand for goods and services, compare offers from different suppliers, make a reasoned preselection and place orders. He/she also checks invoices and takes appropriate measures in case of defective deliveries and services.

Operational range of services

The finance and accounting assistant carries out various tasks within the scope of the provision of operational services. This includes, for instance, processing customer enquiries, preparing offers, accepting and checking purchase orders or other orders and issuing the corresponding documents. He/she deals with complaints and claims competently.

Marketing

The finance and accounting assistant has knowledge of marketing and participates in the design of operational communication media (e.g. newsletters, direct mailings, press releases, social media contributions/articles) based on this knowledge. Furthermore, he/she works on the workplace's external image.

Interdisciplinary areas of competence:

Working in an operational and professional environment

The finance and accounting assistant has basic knowledge of the operational range of services and of business, economic and ecological connections in order to organise and carry out his/her activities efficiently and sustainably. He/she acts self-competently, socially and methodically within the operational structure and process organisation and works on the tasks assigned to him/her in a solution-oriented manner appropriate to the situation based on his/her understanding of intrapreneurship. In addition, he/she communicates in a manner appropriate to the target group, also in English to suit the job, and acts in a customer-oriented manner.

Quality oriented, safe and sustainable work

The finance and accounting assistant applies the principles of operational quality management and is involved in the further development of operational standards. He/she reflects on his/her own approach and uses the knowledge gained from this in his/her area of responsibility. The finance and accounting assistant observes the legal and operational regulations for his/her personal safety and health at work and acts appropriately in the event of accidents and injuries. Within the scope of his/her area of responsibility, he/she considers significant ecological effects of his/her activity and therefore acts in a sustainable and resource-saving manner.

Digital work

The finance and accounting assistant selects and efficiently uses the most suitable digital equipment, operational software and digital forms of communication for his/her tasks within the framework of the legal and operational requirements. He/she digitally obtains the internal and external information necessary for the processing of tasks. The finance and accounting assistant acts purposefully and responsibly based on his/her digital competence. This includes in particular the sensitive and secure handling of data in compliance with legal and operational requirements (e.g. General Data Protection Regulation).
