3. PROFILE OF SKILLS AND COMPETENCES
Specialist areas of competence:
Legal assistance

The legal assistant has basic knowledge of procedural law, civil law, land register law, company register law, cost law and relevant professional conduct law. In addition, he/she has basic knowledge of general civil law, company law and tax law in order to carry out his/her tasks competently. In addition to mail and schedule management, these tasks include file management: He/she carries out file allocations, checks and calculates deadlines and monitors to see if they are noted down and observed. The legal assistant can also obtain information and manage it in the right file. He/she prepares the necessary (professional conduct-related) legal steps when accepting a new client and for existing clients.

Office management

The legal assistant fulfils a variety of tasks within the scope of operational communication. This includes, in particular, letter or e-mail correspondence with internal and external correspondents and transcription of dictation, where he/she takes care of the text design in accordance with internal specifications (e.g. corporate design). The legal assistant also organises discussions, meetings and business trips and provides support at the reception and at discussions. He/she determines the need for office supplies, participates in the ordering of goods, accepts the goods and checks the invoices. The legal assistant uses the equipment of his/her work area competently.

Marketing

The legal assistant has knowledge of marketing and participates in the design of operational communication media (e.g. newsletters, direct mailings, press releases, social media contributions/articles) based on this knowledge: For example, he/she creates short texts or edits text modules and undertakes formatting and design work. In addition, he/she works on events as part of the workplace’s external image.

Operational accounting

The legal assistant carries out work in operational accounting on the basis of his/her knowledge in the individual sub-areas of accounting. In bookkeeping, this includes organisation and checking of supporting documents. He/she is also involved in operational payment transactions. In addition, the legal assistant carries out tasks within the scope of data preparation (working with statistics).

Specialised technical area of competence:
Legal assistance at a notary’s office

The legal assistant specialising in notary’s offices has basic knowledge of inheritance law and probate proceedings, adult protection law, tenancy law, real estate and corporate law in order to be able to carry out his/her tasks competently. He/she prepares simple documents and correspondence for courts, authorities, clients, other parties and party representatives. In addition, the legal assistant assists with simple proceedings (e.g. probate proceedings, affiliation proceedings, divorce by mutual consent, adoption), documents (e.g. register entries, authentication documents), applications (e.g. for the company and land register and also trademark and design applications) and declarations (e.g. tax declarations) at courts and authorities under the supervision of the notary.

He/she prepares invoices and fee notes and assists with operational payment and dunning procedures.

Interdisciplinary areas of competence:

Working in an operational and professional environment

The legal assistant has basic knowledge of the operational range of services and of business, economic and ecological connections in order to organise and carry out his/her activities efficiently and sustainably and in line with the interests of the workplace in terms of intrapreneurship. He/she acts self-competently, socially and methodically within the operational structure and process organisation and works on the tasks assigned to him/her in a solution-oriented manner appropriate to the situation. In addition, he/she communicates in a manner appropriate to the target group, also in English to suit the job, and acts in a client-oriented manner.

Quality oriented, safe and sustainable work

The legal assistant applies the principles of operational quality management and is involved in the further development of operational standards. He/she reflects on his/her own approach and uses the knowledge gained from this in his/her area of responsibility. The legal assistant observes the legal and operational regulations for his/her personal safety and health at work and acts appropriately in the event of accidents and injuries. Within the scope of his/her area of responsibility, he/she considers significant ecological effects of his/her activity and therefore acts in a sustainable and resource-saving manner.

Digital work

The legal assistant selects and efficiently uses the most suitable digital equipment, operational software and digital forms of communication for his/her tasks within the framework of the legal and operational requirements. He/she digitally obtains the internal and external information necessary for the processing of tasks. The legal assistant acts purposefully and responsibly based on his/her digital competence. This includes in particular the sensitive and secure handling of data in compliance with legal and operational requirements (e.g. General Data Protection Regulation).
